EDI Communication

For information exchange between companies to succeed, it needs to be secure, reliable and traceable. The EDI service eXite® by EDITEL is a guarantee for this since more than 40 years.

eXite® offers one of the largest international EDI networks for EDI Communication. Every year, more than 20,000 companies process more than 400 million transactions via the EDI service.

A connection to eXite® will cover all your communication processes with each and every one of your business partners. All business documents such as electronic orders, despatch advices, invoices and others will be transferred in real time, secure and reliable. This means that you will no longer need traditional communication channels such as phone, fax or e-mail.

Our fail-safe infrastructure as well as comprehensive transaction logs (access, activities, transmissions, ...) guarantee maximum security and the traceability of all corporate data. All data is archived at several high-security centers operated by our technology partner T-Systems.

Your benefits

› Reliable transmission of business documents in real time
› One single connection for all business partners
› Maximum data security and availability
› Traceability of all transactions
› 24/7 helpdesk
› Available across industries and borders
› Based on GS1 and EDI standards

Digital Archiving

Digital document archiving is a great option to complement automated business processes. Digital archiving ensures that space and resources needed to store documents are reduced as much as possible. It also puts any relevant document you may need at your fingertips immediately.

The eXite® archiving solution includes a wide variety of functionalities, especially when it comes to archiving EDI data. In addition, EDITEL's security standards guarantee that this archiving solution is auditproof (legal compliance in accordance with EU directive 2010/45/EU, confirmed by auditing firm EY) making it a perfect choice for storing sensitive data for which data integrity is key (e.g. invoices, documents, contracts, etc.). The archiving solution is available both as a managed service or inhouse.

Business Monitoring

The eXite® business monitoring tool has been created to comprehensively monitor and control all business processes that are key for the communication between your company and your business partners. You will have an overview of all exchanged electronic documents, information if the transfer was successful and if the included information is accurate.

For instance, the system enables you to match quantities indicated in an order with the respective information in the despatch advice, order confirmation and invoice, thus ensuring the correct process flow. Discrepancies will be immediately detected and communicated via e-mail notifications.

Business Monitoring features include also the visual display of workflows as graphical charts, customized reports (available online or delivered automatically via e-mail) as well as functionalities such as document tracking, status information or the management of electronic signatures.

Your benefits

› Monitoring for business processes
  (e.g. order-to-cash)
› Active notification for workflow
› Online access
› Creation of individual reports
› Manual signature verification
› Secure archiving of all electronic business documents
› Extended search options
